

COLUMNAR ORDERS

- DORIC -
- Simplest of the 3 orders
 - Plain CAPITAL, consisting of an abacus & echinus
 - Simple column with parallel concave FLUTES
 - The PARTHENON uses Doric Columns

- IONIC -
- Capital is more decorated than with Doric Order. Main feature are the VOLUTES.
 - Column sits on a base (unlike Doric Order)
 - Temple of Artemis at Ephesus uses the Ionic Order.

- CORINTHIAN -
- Invented by the architect Callimachus
 - Capital is marked by stylized ACANTHUS leaves
 - Slender columns

- OTHER ORDERS -
- COMPOSITE: Volutes of Ionic combined with the Acanthus of the Corinthian
 - TUSCAN: Stocky ultra-simplified Roman version of the Doric Order.
 - CARYATID: sculpted female figure serving as a column.
